Craigslist Homepage Redesign

For this project I was tasked with redesigning the homepage of a website and I chose Craigslist. It's a website I love and use frequently as well as being a page offering a lot to work with.

The goal was to adjust the page's design to improve usability and ease of workflow.

I first identified the parts of the page I wanted to eliminate and what I wanted to streamline.

Other parts I kept as information I felt should be displayed else-where.

What I created from there was the following. My main focus was only displaying key information to the user and streamlining the view.

CRAIGSLIST

location    account    language

faqs    privacy    terms    about search craigslist...

make a listing

I combined some of the links and hid the subsections under each button so they would only display when the user hovers over them.
